ORIGIN OF PAGEANT

CHARACTERS IN PEACE PRESENTATION ARE ALLEGORICAL AND OF ANCIENT GREECE

The beautiful theme of the Peace Pageant originated in the mind of Mr. Herbert J. Blanchard, a young man who is a resident of Glendale and a patron of the Pacific Avenue school. He has been in close touch with the school and deeply interested in the welfare of the playground from the very first.

He had carried the idea of a pageant along lines of universal peace in his mind for some time, and hearing that the ladies of the P. T. A. were planning a benefit for the playground, he kindly offered to put his plan in working order, and allow them to present it to the public.

Mrs. Wayland Brown of Tropico (a talented woman who needs no introduction to the Glendale public) most generously offered her assistance as director, and it was in collaboration with her that Mr. Blanchard completed the details of the production. As both Mr. Blanchard and Mrs. Brown, as well as many of the cast, have had much professional experience, the results should prove far from amateur.

The theme of the story is entirely independent of any of the peace movements being promulgated at the present time. The characters are allegorical and the period is that of ancient Greece, so that there is absolutely no allusion to the present crisis in world history.

Nevertheless, it paints a beautiful picture of peace (the ideal peace) which will be indelibly impressed upon the minds of all who are so fortunate as to witness this most unique and spectacular production. The writer ventures the prediction that its effects will be widespread, and that it will bring Glendale into the limelight as nothing else could do. Every man, woman and child in Glendale should see it, and invite their friends from surrounding cities to come and see what an enterprising community can accomplish.

DEATH OF MRS McKEEHAN

The many friends of Mrs. Laura J. McKeehan were grieved to learn of her sudden death, which occurred at her residence, 205 N. Louise street, May 23, at 4:15 a. m. Mrs. McKeehan was actively identified with the W. C. T. U. movement and a devout member of the Methodist church. She came to Glendale three years ago from Colorado and in that time endeared herself to a large number of friends.

She is survived by two sons, Wallace McKeehan of Bisbee, Arizona, and Joseph McKeehan of San Francisco.

The funeral services will be held at the Jewel City Undertaking chapel, but the time can not be determined until the arrival of the sons.

SHAKESPEARE SOCIAL

Shakespeare was the theme at the Shakespeare social given at the parsonage of the First Lutheran church of Glendale, Monday night. The Rev. R. W. Mottern and Mrs. Mottern were host and hostess to a large number of interested guests who filled the rooms of the pastor's residence. The program was entirely Shakespearean. Mrs. Cappell sang several songs from Shakespeare's plays, Mr. John A. St. Clair gave an exposition of Hamlet and readings from the play; Mrs. St. Clair gave the scene between Launcelot Gobbo and old Gobbo, from "The Merchant of Venice;" Miss Weiler interpreted with much dramatic force the letter scene from "Macbeth." Elizabeth Mottern, the talented twelve-year-old daughter of the pastor, sang several Shakespearean songs with great delicacy of expression. Word games and music filled up a most profitable evening.

MOTHERS' READING CIRCLE

The Mothers' Reading circle of Columbus avenue met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarick, 1447 W. Third street. Thirteen members were present. Two new members were admitted—Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke and Mrs. Blake Franklin. The circle finished the reading of "Children's Rights" by Kate Douglas Wiggin. There will be no meeting on Tuesday, Decoration day. The next meeting will be held two weeks from that date, June 6. On that occasion the circle will begin the reading of Patterson Du Bois' interesting work, "Beckonings From Little Hands."

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; west wnids.

VOCATIONS FOR GIRLS

MISS TARBELL, EFFICIENCY EXPERT, TELLS OF AVENUES OF WORK

The girls of the Glendale High School recently filled out cards telling what vocation they intended to pursue after leaving High School. When Miss Flood, whose idea it was, read the cards, she found that nearly all the girls intended to be teachers or stenographers. Believing that the girls might decide on something more suited to their ability if they knew of it, she is having a series of talks by women who have made good in their profession on "Vocations for Girls."

The first talk was by Mrs. Lindsey, of the Los Angeles city council, on "Newspaper Work." The last talk was by Miss Tarbell, of Hamburger's Department store, on "How to Make Good in the Business World."

Miss Tarbell is what might be called an "efficiency expert." She observes the work done by the employes of the large department store, and teaches them how to do their work more efficiently, thus making them of more value both to the store and to themselves.

All through her talk Miss Tarbell emphasized the fact that there are positions in a store besides that of the woman behind the counter. She said, "There are chances for girls who cannot go to normal school or college, but many ambitious people are handicapped by lack of a high school education. In commercial work a girl should study up on law and business as well as learning just the bare facts of her trade. To obtain experience, everyone should begin at the bottom. One girl, by beginning at $6 per week and working up, after six years gets $2100 a year.

"There are many positions not thought of by the customers of a store, who see only the salespeople, cashiers and floorwalkers. There are people who do nothing but fill mail orders from country customers. These women have to read between the lines and put themselves in the place of the woman who cannot express what she wants, or does not make it clear. Then there is the traffic department, where a knowledge of travel, tariff, and war conditions is necessary. There are women at the head of every department, and buyers of goods for the firm, both positions much coveted by the saleswomen. There are openings in the advertising department for girls with the gift of making word-pictures."

Many errors are turned over to Miss Tarbell to find out the cause. Her conclusion is that care is necessary in the smallest details. A young man made several errors, just because he was careless in writing figures, and made his "3's" look like "5's".

"There are three requirements necessary for any position in the business world. The first is a good personal appearance. This means an appearance of health, alertness, and neatness, which an employer judges by the applicant's carriage, dress, hair, skin, eyes, expression and voice. The second is business accuracy. This includes an understanding of one's duties, and, in salesmanship, a knowledge of merchandise. The third is service. To be successful in business, it is necessary to meet other people's needs, whether they are employes or customers. It is necessary constantly to size up people, and adapt yourself to their personalities."

DEATH OF MRS. McCLUNG

Mrs. Cordelia McClung departed this life Sunday evening, May 21, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Lacy, 135 N. Kenwood street. Mrs. McClung was 79 years of age. She had been an invalid for a long time but the immediate cause of her death was pneumonia, of which she died three days after having been attacked by it . She leaves besides her daughter, Mrs. Lacy, a son, Isaac McClung, of Lovington, Ill. The funeral services will be held at the Jewel City Undertaking parlors, Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The remains will be shipped to Sullivan, Ill., for interment.

MEETING POSTPONED

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the First M. E. church has been postponed for the month of May, on account of the deaths of two of its members. There will be no regular meeting until the usual date in June. For the same reason the Grownup Children's party which the Ladies' Aid was to have held on Thursday has been called off.

AMERICAN SCOUTS SCOURING MEXICO

PERSHING SENDS OBSERVERS INTO COUNTRY SOUTH OF HIS BASE—VILLISTAS RECRUITING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

COLUMBUS, N. M., May 24.—Gen. Pershing is determined to keep informed of what is going on in the country around his forces. Many of his scouts are scouring the country well to the south of his base. There seems to be considerable Villista activity all along the border and in the wake of the retreating American forces of Maj. Langhorne and Col. Sibley the Villistas are actively recruiting representing that the Americans have been driven from the country.

ITALIAN WARSHIP SHOOTS DOWN AEROPLANE

PICTURESQUE DUEL IN THE ADRIATIC ENDS IN DEFEAT OF AUSTRIAN AVIATOR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ROME, May 24.—An Austrian aeroplane was destroyed today by an Italian warship. The Austrian aeroplane had been sent out from some base near Durazzo for the purpose of scouting and incidentally dropping bombs on any Italian craft it might see. The Italian warship was provided with two efficient anti-air craft guns of long range. The aeroplane flew at a height of about 8000 feet and dropped several bombs without effect. The Italian gunners soon found the range of the aeroplane which was crippled by a shot through the gasoline tank and fell into the sea. The aviator was killed.

BRYAN DECLINES PROHIBITION NOMINATION

EX-SECRETARY OF STATE DECLARES THAT REPORTS OF CANDIDATURE ARE NOT SERIOUS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—William Jennings Bryan, ex-Secretary of State, declined today to consider seriously the reports that he was likely to be Prohibitionist candidate for president. His recent statements before the Methodist general conference at Saratoga in favor of national prohibition are said to have had no bearing on the presidential question from a personal point of view.

MEXICANS IN BELLIGERENT MOOD

GEN. FUNSTON REPORTS TO SECRETARY OF WAR BAKER THAT THERE IS DANGER OF CLASH AT MADERA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—Gen. Funston reported to Secretary of War Baker today that there is some appearance of hostility on the part of the Mexicans toward the United States troops. This has been specially the case at Madera, where the Mexicans evidently had been encouraged by those in authority to seek to provoke an encounter with the Americans. The situation gets more tense every day the American troops remain in Mexico.

BRANDEIS' APPOINTMENT IS CONFIRMED

SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS APPOINTMENT OF WILSON'S NOMINEE TO SUPREME COURT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—The Senate Judiciary Committee today recommended the confirmation of the appointment of Louis D. Brandeis as associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States. The committee has had this appointment under consideration since January. It will now take the usual course.

NONRESPONDING TEXANS TO GET CHANCE

PRESIDENT WILSON TO ISSUE SECOND CALL TO GUARDSMEN WHO DID NOT ANSWER FIRST SUMMONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—President Wilson has determined to give another chance to the 116 Texas militiamen who did not answer the summons to arms. If they do not answer the second call they will be dealt with by court martial. It is believed that most of them will respond. Many of the men have families to support and other affairs which may have detained them.

VON BUELOW TO SUCCEED VON BERNSTORFF

EX-CHANCELLOR OF GERMANY MAY TAKE CHARGE OF TEUTON EMBASSY AT WASHINGTON

(Special Service to Clendale Evening News)

LONDON, May 24.—It is stated here on excellent authority from Berlin that Prince Von Buelow, who at one time was Imperial chancellor of Germany, will be sent to the United States to take the place of Count Von Bernstorff. Prince Von Buelow is a noted diplomatist.

HONOR PIN DAY

SEVENTEEN SENIORS AWARDED THE COVETED GOLD BADGES

Honor Pin Day has become an institution in the Glendale High School. Four years ago the custom was inaugurated by Miss Flood of granting honor pins for scholarship to those students the average of whose grades for the year exceeded a certain per cent. This was done in the belief that honors awarded for athletics tended to make that already especially attractive side of school life even more alluring and that those who excelled in the quieter pursuit of scholarship should also have some public recognition of their abilities.

A committee is appointed each year to work up the list of those entitled to the honor. Any student whose scholarship has showed the required excellence for one year is awarded the bronze scholarship pin. Each succeeding year, if the same standard is reached, a star is added. If a uniform standard equal to the honor requirements is attained for four years, the bronze pin is exchanged for a gold one. The bronze pins are awarded at the beginning of the school year on the record of the preceding year. The gold pins are granted near the close of the last quarter of the Senior year.

A special assembly will be held Thursday, May 25, at 10:30 a. m., when the gold honor pins will be awarded. All friends are cordially invited to be present. The following Seniors have won the gold Honor pins:

Clyde Brooks, Dorothy Cloud, Frank Bridgeford, Lola East, Edith Ewins, Rebecca Gregg, Edgar Griswold, Alta Lovell, Margaret McPherson, Rugh Nofsiger, William Renshaw, Elsie Tyler, Carol Willisford, Ione Virden, Mervyn Mills, Marjorie Singleton, Ethyl West.

Miss Flood, who has always had a keen interest in the intellectual standards of the school, expresses herself as highly gratified by the interest of the pupils in securing these honors, and by the consequent increase of zeal in scholarly attainments in the whole student body.

WORK IN THE STREETS

Work on the Broadway railway extension, after having been pushed with considerable energy for some time, has been dropped for a brief time. The railway men who were working on it have been taken to work in another district but the work will be resumed in the immediate future.

Broadway opening and widening has come to the stage where the referee's report has been turned into court and further proceedings are awaiting the court's confirmation of that report. When that has been given the work will be in the hands of the superintendent of streets.

The assessments for the opening and widening of Seventh street and also of Adams street are in course of preparation. Work on the crossings at Brand and First and Doran will be begun very shortly. The Pacific avenue improvements will be up for bids shortly.

VOICE FROM BULGARIA

All who are interested in the progress of Christianity, and the present conditions in Europe, will find it profitable to attend the First Methodist church this evening. The Rev. T. T. Holway from Sofia, Bulgaria, will speak at the mid-week service. His experiences and message will be full of interest. What effect is the great war having on Christianity? How is Christianity reconciling itself to war conditions?

As an American citizen, Rev. Holway can speak of actual conditions and give a clear religious outlook. The service will commence at 7:45. Church location, Third and Dayton Court.

COLUMBUS AVENUE P. T. A.

The Columbus Avenue Parent-Teacher association will hold its last meeting of the season, Thursday, at 3 p m., in the kindergarten room of the school. The first business of the day will be the election of officers for the coming season. After this the meeting will adjourn to the Manual Arts shop, where Miss Thayer, supervisor of Manual Training in the Glendale schools, will speak on her work and its relation to the child's daily life.

MEETING POSTPONED

The Political Science section of the Tuesday Afternoon club has been postponed and will meet Thursday, June 1, at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, for the last meeting of the year.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

SENIOR PLAY IN REHEARSAL—COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS —BALL GAME

Under the direction of Miss Abbie C. Terry of the high school faculty the Senior play, "The Cabinet Minister," by Arthur Pinero, is well under way. The farce contains so many character parts that a great deal of rehearsing is necessary.

The cast consists of Lola East, Dorothy Cloud, Ethyl West, Katheryne Green, Rachel McClure, Mary Hunt, Goldie Drake, Margaret McPherson, George Dyer, William Renshaw, William Bode, Joseph Maier, Samuel Merriken, Mervyn Mills, Howard Stockney and Eldred Marlatt.

The play will be presented on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of commencement week, June 13 and 14.

The big event of the week will take place next Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the auditorium in the form of a debate. The question is "Resolved, That Wilson Should Be Re-elected." The affirmative will be upheld by Mr. H. C. Joy, Harold Preeman and Harlan Durand. The negative side consists of Mr. G. F. Taylor, Herbert Scheuner and Marion Lehman. Samuel Durand will act as chairman, Miss Terry, Mr. Howe and Mr. Cowan as judges, and Dan Hagin and Robert Carmack as timekeepers.

The affair will be opened by two musical numbers, one by the High School orchestra and the other by the Boys' Glee club. The debate is the first affair given by "The Rostrum," the newly organized debating society. No admission fee will be charged.

Commencement Speakers

The class of 1916 have been very fortunate in obtaining two very interesting speakers for commencement week. Dr. Daniel F. Fox of Pasadena will give the address on graduation night, Thursday, June 15. Dr. E. H. Willisford of Glendale will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday night, June 11.

General Notes

There will be two assemblies tomorrow, one for the presentation of honor pins, and one for getting Stylus subscriptions.

The Seniors will give a dance on Friday, May 26, at Richardson's tennis court on the corner of Riverdale Drive and Central avenue. Come and wear out your shoes! The affair will be given on the dancing pavilion plan.

The program for Senior week is:

Thursday, June 8—Class Night.

Friday, June 9—Junior-Senior Reception.

Sunday, June 11—Baccalaureate.

Tuesday, June 13.—Class Play, "The Cabinet Minister."

Wednesday, June 14—Class Play, "The Cabinet Minister."

Thursday, June 15—Graduation Exercises.

Friday, June 16—Senior Farewell Dance.

Saturday, June 17—Alumni.

Baseball

The home team had a little hard luck last Saturday at South Pasadena for first place, since Covina lost up for it this afternoon by playing all around the Harvard team. If the team wins this afternoon, they will be tied with Covina and South Pasadena for first place, since Covine lost to Alhambra last Saturday.

HOUSE NUMBERING

EDITOR GLENDALE NEWS:

I am glad to note the renewed agitation in favor of correcting our fantastic style of house numbering, as voiced in recent articles in your valuable paper. It will be remembered that I wrote on this subject for the "News" several months ago, giving numerous examples of present absurdities, such as 1303 and 1228 W. Seventh being exactly opposite, 1436 Salem being west of 1444 and on West Fifth beginning at Columbus the numbers running 1507, 1505, 1509, 1523, 1531 and so on. But I want to dissent emphatically from one suggestion made by several correspondents, namely, making Broadway the base line for north and south numbering. This would be exceedingly awkward, causing numbers 100 to 199 to be in the block between Broadway and Third, 200 to 299 between 3rd and 2nd and 300 to 399 between 2nd and 1st. South of Broadway the same awkward situation would prevail. Wherever there are numbered streets, First is the division line, naturally.

I think we all agree that Brand should be the dividing line east and west.

FRENCH SUCCESS AT DOUAUMONT

It will be remembered that the Germans after fighting valiantly against a most gallant defense of Fort Douaumont managed to enter the smoking ruins of that position. They threw in there that elite brigade, the Brandenburgers, who stormed the hill only to find themselves cut to pieces and 2000 trapped by the French curtain of fire. Since that time the Germans have managed to cling to the crumbling ruins of Douaumont. That was three months ago. In spite of having secured a footing at Douaumont at a cost of 100,000 men it is said the Germans have been forced out of it again by the French.

The French infantry forced back the Germans inch by inch at the point of the bayonet and finally drove them from the ruins of the fort that they had sacrificed so much to gain. Of course the Germans will make further efforts to recover their lost position and the French will have a hard time defending it against the masses of troops the Crown Prince is certain to send against them. But it is worth noting that here, in this hand to hand encounter, the French had the better of the fighting.

As pointed out in an interview the other day in The Glendale Evening News, which Sergeant George Le Mesnager gave, the name of General Nivelle was mentioned as that of a leader who had risen to eminence in the defense of Verdun. Gen. Petain and Gen. Nivelle are evidently the hero leaders of the great fight. Before the war neither of these men had the slightest rcognition. It was in the actual fighting that they both came to the front.

The French army is a true democracy. In the British, the German and the Russian army the aristocratic idea prevails to a greater or less extent. In the American army there is also a wide chasm between the enlisted man and the West Pointer; but in France the officer and his men are comrades. He addresses them as "mes enfants" (my children) nd they regard him with profound affection. His elevation to command being through efficiency his men are not afraid that their lives may be sacrificed by sheer ignorance of conditions. The French officer always says "allons-nous" (let us go) never "allez-vous" (go you) He is always ready to go first if necessary and he has managed in this campaign to evoke in the French army a spirit that is so unconquerable that even the wounded in their delirium are heard muttering in the hospitals, "The Germans must never get through; they will never get through; we must not allow it."

If one inquires further what it is that has inspired these Frenchmen to this gallant defense it might be well to take a look at George Le Mesnager, a man who is known to all Glendale. At the outbreak of the war George started off for France and threw himself into the war with the vigor of youth. He has received the medal of honor for gallant deeds done on the field of battle and yet he is a man who cannot be less than sixty years of age. He fought through the Franco-Prussian campaign of 1870-71 and never forgot the lessons of that time of disaster that almost swamped France and cost her her two fair provinces of Alsace and Lorraine. He is home on sick leave but is eager to get into the defense again.

Le Mesnager is a type of the heroes of France. He counts his life nothing if only his beloved country can be saved. He recognizes that this is a life and death struggle. Talk to him and you will realize the spirit that has held the pitted hillsides of Le Mort Homme and Avocourt's woods and the French salient that still bids defiance to the greatest assemblage of guns and men the world has ever seen in assault. Gen. Nivelle is such another man only he is younger. Mark the name. You will see it again.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS

Just how ignorant Robert G. Ross, the Lexington, Neb., livery stable proprietor, actually is will probably never be known. Had Robert kept his tongue still and his pen at rest he might have gone on to the end of his days with the reputation of being a man of high genius. Bob, however, is not the kind who is accustomed to hide his light under a bushel. A graduate in the currycomb school and more familiar with oats than with oil, with trotters than with tires, he is one of those staunch conservatives who think spelling and grammar unnecessary to a man of genius, at least of the kind of genius he supposes himself to possess.

In the Nebraska Democratic primary Bob was a contestant for the presidential nomination against President Wilson. He actually found 9417 persons who thought him a better man than the sage of Princeton. His support in both primaries was the subject of much surprise to a great many people who do not understand the kind of sentiment that has come to rule so largely in political elections in the Middle West and even on the Pacific coast.

On account of this rather large vote W. L. Gaston of Wayne, wrote to the aspiring livery-stable keeper and asked him for a statement of his views. Here they are:

> Dear Sir: Your card received and will say i was borned in Repley Ohio. My parients moved from there when I was 2 years old to Cattetsburg, N Y was educated there and at Portsmouth Ohio, and raised as a Methodist of which my parients was when about 17 came to nebraska Lexington Dawson Co about 31 years ago was on ranches and later a farmer fo about 25 years different things a short time in the above mentioned was a Membr of vangelical church in early days and now a member of Presbyterian here in Lexington, Neb for about 9 years, have never taken a drink of Liquor nor my Father eather since I was old enough to know till he died you preachers ought to get busy and give the delegates to understand what your intentions is if they nominate a man of the Whiskey type or one going it tou faced as some of them is very truly.—Robert G. Ross, Lexington, Neb

It is not wonderful that such a man as Bob should imagine that he is qualified to occupy the important position of president of the United States, and its 100,000,000 people. His ignorance is quite in keeping with the belief so prevalent among people of narrow outlook that conformity to some circumscribed set of opinions is all that is necessary for high office.

It is not likely that the people of the United States will ever be threatened seriously with a president of this caliber; but from the support the ex-stableman received there is great danger that he may yet be added to the number of such men who have crept into congress. There are many of them who are not so palpably illiterate as Bob, but they are none the less dangerous because they are equally narrow and inexperienced. It seems a thousand pities that to such men is intrusted the vast responsibility of conserving the rights and privileges the forefathers of this country bequeathed to their sons and that the mighty space of our large honors should be in danger of being bartered away or permitted to fall into alien hands while men like Bob are mouthing their views.

BEGIN WAR ON WEEDS

CITY POSTS NOTICES TO CLEAN OFF VEGETABLE GROWTH ON NEGLECTED LOTS

Work has begun on the task of cleaning off weeds from all lots where the vegetable growth has been allowed to become rank and no attempt has been made to keep them down. The resolution to notify lot owners to keep their lots clear has been printed in the form of a notice and that is now being posted on all the offending lots throughout the city.

This notice has also been published in The Glendale Evening News. Owners of lots are thereby notified that they must clear their lots of all obnoxious and dangerous weeds, otherwise they will be removed by the civic authorities and the cost of their removal assessed on the lots and lands on which they constitute a lien. Objections to the proposed removal of weeds must be made at the meeting of the board of trustees to be held June 5.

It is estimated that there are 2000 lots that are subject to this resolution. The work of posting the notices is being proceeded with. It will take about ten days to post them all. Already some of them are in place and many lot owners are complying with the notice. It is noticeable this year that there are a great many lots which were full of weeds last year and became subject to the action of the council in cleaning off the weeds, which are being used as truck gardens. Quite a number of vacant lots were lent to school children and to those connected with the Glendale Garden society for the purpose of growing vegetables, chiefly potatoes.

The number of these lots cannot be fewer than 500. This is a considerable improvement and it is anticipated that the majority of those who are in a position to attend to their own lots will clear them off this year as they now know that the city will do it should they fail to do so.

It might be well for those who give permission to others to use their vacant lots for potato or vegetable growing to see that in their bargain it is distinctly undertsood that the lessee shall clear off the parkings, otherwise it will be found that the city will do that work and charge for it.

It is noticeable this year that the growth of weeds and wild flowers has not been so rank as it was last year. The clearing and burning of lots last year has evidently attenuated the growth of the weeds and this year's work will proportionately thin them. In another year or so they should disappear altogether.

Meanwhile it would be well for those who take an interest in the real wild flowers to gather the seed while yet there is time so as to preserve many of the wild flower species that are beautiful, and useful. It would be a great pity to see the wild flowers vanish away altogether. That is another argument for a park in the city. In some corner of a city park there would undoubtedly be a wild flower corner where the rare wild flowers of California would be preserved.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL PATRONS' DAY

Novel indeed was the plan of the Patrons' Day program at the Intermediate school, which took place May 19. Instead of a May festival or exhibit this year, the faculty conceived the idea of letting the parents see exactly how the system is operated. The children assembled at seven o'clock in their respective classrooms, where the roll was taken in the usual way, after which the pupils passed to regular classes, where the parents could see them reciting lessons in the regular order.

Classes were in session from seven until nine, during which time there were four periods of thirty minutes each. During the first three periods recitations in arithmetic, sloyd, cooking, reading, drawing, geography, history and English were conducted. The last period was devoted to the usual weekly assembly, at which time a short meeting of the athletic association was held and letters and stars were awarded to those who had earned them in athletics. After this the regular music lesson was held.

About two hundred and fifty visitors inspected the work of the school and all were very much pleased because they had been given this special opportunity to visit the school and see "everyday" work.

The school is also having exhibits, which are of special interest, in the store windows on Brand boulevard. In Schillings' window, there is a splendid exhibit of needlework done under the able direction of Miss Wooldridge. It includes table-runners, pillow tops, underwear, waists, towels and collars. On exhibition at Parker's store, there are many relics of historical interest, which have been collected by the children. They also have an exhibit of maps and flags which were made in the History department.

At Bott's Book store and Cornwell & Kelty's store interesting sloyd exhibits will be found. Articles which include from the smallest wooden spoon to a handy tea-wagon and a large comfortable looking rocking chair, made by the boys, are in the window.

Attention has before been drawn to the transparent satisfaction with which old-age pensioners in the United Kingdom are everywhere returning to work, and also to the more than efficient way in which they are fulfilling their duties. The Scotch education department is the latest public body to recognize the value of the old-age pensioner, and in a recently issued circular it notifies that the retirement age limit is to be suspended during the war; that teachers nearing the limit will be "kept in"; whilst those over the limit are invited to come back to their work.

Personals

Pierson Hanning and family have moved from 1618 Oak street to 1551 Hawthorne.

John Railsbach and family have moved into their recently purchased home at 1619 West Seventh street.

Adolph Bail, who had been residing at 1509 W. First street, moved to Arlington street, Los Angeles, Wednesday of this week.

Dr. D. N. Welsh and family will move from J. H. Hearnshaw's house, 1546 W. Colorado, to the Walbes house at 1565 West Seventh.

Mrs. Tom Saito, wife of the vegetable wholesaler on Riverdale Drive, arrived at home Monday from a 10 months' visit in Japan. She brought her other son back with her.

Mrs. Walter Stamps of 1304 Lomita avenue, who was recently taken to the Angelus hospital, Los Angeles, for the purpose of undergoing a minor operation, is getting along nicely. She expects to be able to return to her home before long.

Mrs. F. C. Ayars, 1314 Chestnut street, entertained at luncheon, Monday, a small party of friends of the Pi Beta Phi society. Those present were Miss Maud Soper, Mr. Charles Rathbone and Mrs. Perce Curtis.

ALUMNI ACTORS TO DRAW SALARIES

Members of the Alumni Association who are taking part in the coming production of the "Voice of Conscience" are jubilant today. They are to receive compensation for their services. And it all came about in this fashion:

These young Glendale thespians have had a growing feeling that their friends and relatives, within certain limits of course, should not be made to pay for the privilege of seeing them act. In other words, they ought to receive a certain number of complimentary tickets. But the dream of doting, hand-warming mamas and papas in gratuitous front seats was rudely shattered when the executive committee let it be known that there was to be no free list. It was to weep!

But they had worked very hard, these young actor folk, so the committee relented. They would pay each one a salary of one dollar in advance, so that they might buy tickets for their home made subsidy of applause.

A wonderful idea, executive committee. Your beneficence is thrice blessed, at one stroke you have brought smiles and dimples to the faces of a score of temporary theatrical personages, you have removed the stigma of charity from the persistently sought for reward of numerous pride-sated relatives, and have promoted a goodly number of amateur actors into professionals overnight. For, from the little man who is to lay the big character lead to the big man who carries the proverbial spear and has a thinking part, each is to be paid one dollar.

LICENSE YOUR DOGS

Chief of Police Herald is anxious that the public should know that there is considerable activity in the poundmaster's department. The new poundmaster is daily on his rounds and has already gathered in a number of stray dogs. If a dog has not a license tag he is in danger of being caught and taken to the pound. In the eye of the law he is a stray dog and is subject to the penalty of death unless his master or mistress should redeem him. Those who have any regard for their pet dogs will take warning and take out licenses. If within the past few weeks or within those to come, your pet unlicensed dog should disappear, you will probably find him at the pound.

RENUMBERING OF STREETS

Editor Glendale Evening News:

My attention has been called to the idea of renumbering the streets of Glendale, beginning at Brand and Broadway. By all means this should be done. I have wondered for the three years of my residence here, why it was not done. But I suggest also the idea of conferring with the Tropico folks on the numbering of Brand boulevard continuously through Glendale and Tropico, so as to avoid some confusion. The time is inevitable, sooner or later, when both will be united into one city, and it will have to be done then; why not now?

Renumbering will also make it necessary to re-name First, Second, Third, Fifth, Seventh and Ninth streets, for to allow those names to remain, after the renumbering will only make confusion worse confounded, for strangers would expect to find the "five hundred" block immediately south of Fifth street, but would be unable to understand when they found the "two hundred" block there instead.

These streets should be renamed and given names of local, or of Southern California historical significance; we have too little of that custom as it is.

I suggest also another idea, i. e., let the Chamber of Commerce take up with the proper officials of the Pacific Electric railway, the plan of having all their conductors thoroughly learn the location of all the streets in Glendale and Tropico, so that they may be able to tell strangers in our midst where to get off the cars most convenient to where they wish to go; I find many conductors know little about the streets which do not cross Brand boulevard. A case came under my observation last summer of a man from the north, unacquainted here, coming to visit his mother living on Patterson avenue, in the extreme northwest part of Glendale, who asked the conductor where to get off the car, nearest to Patterson avenue, and the conductor told him to get off at San Fernando road, and he of course, did so. Some little maps like the First National bank got out for advertising purposes a year or two ago, if put in the hands of the conductors for study, would probably get the necessary results.

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club, May 23rd, was one of unusual interest, as annual reports from all departments and committees were presented and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; 1st vice president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; 2nd vice president, Mrs. C. E. Harlan; treasurer, Mrs. Stephen Packer; recording secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Ellis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry P. Goodwin; director, Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Delightful music was furnished by Miss Susine Wessels, violinist, accompanied by Miss Champlain, who played Le Deluge (Saint Saens) and Sonata (Corelli).

The president, Mrs. Bartlett, gave a concise and accurate resume of the year's work as follows:

I am sure many of us feel the year has been a good one, that we have grown in the performance of our duties, are better fitted for work in the future. To the president personally it has been a very pleasant one. Each chairman and member of committees has done the work expected of her, so no undue burden of responsibility has fallen on anyone. I have attended all board meetings but one, all meetings of the club but two. We have had 40 invitations to "Reciprocity Days" with other clubs. I have secured someone to represent our club at nearly all of these pleasant occasions, having attended 13 myself, at the following places: Long Beach Ebell, Redondo, Alhambra, Azusa, Highland Park, Wednesday Morning club, Washington Hts., Pasadena, Pasadena Study club, Cosmos club, Inglewood, College Woman's club and Council of Jewish Women. I also attended the luncheon given by Ebell of L. A. in honor of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, California nominee for president of the General Federation of Woman's clubs. I have attended the monthly Presidents' Council whenever possible.

I consider the exhibit of Mr. Weston's beautiful photographs quite a step forward, and the club exceedingly fortunate in having such a fine exhibit for its first effort.

Under our capable and active chairman of Music section, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, we have been favored with exceptionally good music by our own members and outside talent. The Hospitality committee has been handled in a different manner from previous years, and to the observer everything has seemed to move smoothly and well. Members of our Courtesy committee have always been at the door, and the meeting place has always been made attractive by our efficient Decorating committee. On Washington's birthday and Shakespeare day the decorations were in keeping with the day and especially beautiful. I wish to thank every committee for the help they have contributed to make this year the success it has been.

One feature has been most unusual, that of the recording secretary and treasurer resigning at the end of the half year; however, we found willing workers and capable, and the work has gone forward without a break.

An effort was made by the Ways and Means committee to raise $350 to pay off the mortgage on the second club lot; $404.50 was given, the mortgage paid on April 17, and burned before the club April 25. So now we own the lot directly east of the library and one across the street, on the alley. We also own the beautiful painting given us by Mrs. Frank; the group picture with Constantino, and our certificate of membership in the Federation has been framed, ready to hang on our clubhouse walls.

At the request of Mrs. Pennypacker, president General Federation, the names of your president and secretary have been listed with the Commission of Immigration in New York and if any family of immigrants leaves New York for Glendale our club will be notified, that we may welcome them and assist in whatever way possible, to make them American citizens. This is something practical which can be done. We have also sent contributions to Tuskegee Institute, The Chicago Woman's Shelter Home and the Permanent Blind Relief War Fund.

Our programs have cost a little more than we have paid before, but the board feels that the increased attendance this year has testified your approval. We have had 42 new members, 8 resignations, 2 deaths, leaving a net gain of 32 and bringing the membership to 260.

The Political Science section is new this year. Our historian was appointed since the hilodays and has been busy looking up our records. Our new Calling committee visits all new members and the Federation secretary is new this year in all clubs of the district.

We had a fine representation at the District convention at Hollywood, one representative, Mrs. M. B. Jones, at the State Federation convention at Del Monte, and also one, Mrs. E. W. Richardson, at the Biennial at New York. These conventions give the delegates opportunity to learn of the work of other clubs and to meet enthusiastic women interested in the great questions of the day, to hear good music and addresses and to enjoy a social time with clubwomen generally.

The seven sections have been very active in their respective lines of work and much enjoyed by the attending members. The Philanthropic, Local Charities and Remembrance committees, while not coming prominently before the club, nevertheless have done valuable service. The Parliamentary Law section has done such good work that Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, representative at the District convention, was among the winners of the banner, which we will hold for one fourth of the year. The beautiful work done by the Art section has been on exhibit so recently that it is still fresh in our minds. The work of the Publicity and Program committees has been prominently before you all year, and speaks for itself of the excellent services rendered.

Mrs. O. O. Clark has cared for the personal property of the club and Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., has been our representative in the Juvenile Protective association.

Respectfully submitted,

ANN P. BARTLETT, Pres.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Since the completion of North Sixth street out to Grand View avenue, the boom in property there has been growing to enormous dimensions. Real estate agents are active in the handling of property all round that section and already several sales of property have been effected. There seems little doubt that the section will soon be built up. There are a number of fine ranches there and as the opportunity is favorable they will probably all be on the market. Los Angeles homeseekers are in the neighborhood every day and the prices of property have advanced. The section lies favorably. It has always been a rich agricultural section and the view is unequaled. Now that a fine road runs through the district it will not be long before Glendale will have a fine new suburb.

Mr. Haskins, who has a fine property at Sixth and Grand View, sold it this week to a Los Angeles party who will build three large houses on the ground. The fine orange and walnut groves will disappear almost entirely.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kipper were visitors at their ranch on Kenneth road Tuesday. They remained there all day making arrangements for their settling on the place, which has, for the last two years, been in the keeping of Mr. and Mrs. Drohan.

Mr. and Mrs. Drohan, of Kenneth road, are planning to go to Los Angeles for a time. After that they will go East to visit friends and relatives.

There has been a busy time recently at the large ranch of W. E. Valentine, where the lemon crop has been unusually abundant. The last of the great crop was shipped this week. The prices have been as remunerative as the crop was abundant.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Annie McLeod and John McIver and family wish to thank the friends for the sympathy and aid extended to them at the time of the illness and death of Donald P. McLeod, especially are thanks due the friends in the Presbyterian church for the many beautiful flowers.

DAME FASHION

It would seem that there has never been a season when Dame Fashion allowed such a wide choice of ideas. There appears to be no hard and fast rule in regard to any lines or points of the new fashions. All the couturiers seem to have designed their model independently of each other, and, in many of the houses, a wide variety is to be seen in their own display. Do you like the new panniers? Here they are, to give you the opportunity of looking like your great-grandmother's portrait! Or, do you consider them too extreme, preferring plain skirts? Then there are equally charming models with simpler lines,—skirts plaited, gathered, trimmed, or untrimmed, long, short, or medium lengths. There will this year be no excuse for a woman to wear anything unbecoming on the plea that fashion demands it. Fashion's only demand is now that every woman be beautiful, as every woman can be by choosing for herself the lines and colors which most perfectly suit her. In this she is at present aided and abetted by Dame Fashion as never before.

To take the one question of tailor suits: Nothing is more charming than the natty short coats that fit slightly to the figure and flare only the least bit below the waistline, worn with the straight plaited skirts cut quite as short as ever they have been during the past year. These are decidedly girlish, as are the belted coats with the same straight skirts, very full indeed but not flaring. It is the slender figure that should wear these. Equally good are the coats cut with quite plain lines, with high standing collar and curving waistline with a military flare over the hips. These go with skirts that flare, such a suit being becoming to less slender figures. Then, there are the full loose coats, the boleros, even long straight ones; in fact, there is every shape that anyone could wish. Almost every woman can remember some costume that suited her particularly; "the most becoming suit I ever had!" she calls it. Now is her opportunity to reproduce it, for she can undoubtedly find its lines among the wide variety of new Paris models.

In materials, alpaca is to have great popularity, being made in lovely colors. A particularly pretty suit is in plum color, made with a coat fastened with one button and cut away over a putty color waistcoat. The skirt has a bias seam in the middle of the front and is trimmed with many narrow bands of the material. Some of the houses are making elaborate waistcoats in true Louis XV. style, beautifully embroidered with gold and silver. These are particularly lovely worn under capes of bright taffetas, the capes being long and very full. For instance, one old rose waistcoat, with a heavy embroidered gold border, reaching almost to the knees, under a long cape of apple green taffetas, is one of the striking models which Drecoll is showing. The cape is made in tiers and has a black moire collar. Long full loose wraps are in order, some much trimmed with ruches and frills.

There will be no room for economy in material this season, and it is fortunate for the thrifty that combining materials and colors is so much in vogue; in this way, different remnants may be used. Afternoon gowns with tulle skirts and silk or satin bodices are lovely. Thus a black tulle skirt is made with several layers of tulle, arranged as if cut in squares and the points hanging around the feet, having almost the effect of a ballet skirt in its fluffy fullness. A bright green silk blouse extends just over the shoulders where long tulle sleeves are gathered in; the silk is embroidered with jet beads and has a high girdle, edged with the embroidery which rounds over the front of the waist and ties behind. In the shops there is a sumptuous display of laces and wonderful embroideries. Transparent tulle and lace mantles, trimmed with jets and beads, are in evidence. One wonders if the quaint models with much-draped skirts, short in front and trailing behind, will be worn.

PROSE AND SONG

I looked upon a plain of green,
That some one call'd the land of prose,
Where many living things were seen,
In movement or repose.

I looked upon a stately hill
That well was named the mount of song,
Where golden shadows dwelt at will
The woods and streams among.
But most this fact my wonder bred,
Though known by all the nobly wise,—
It was the mountain streams that fed
The fair green plain's amenities.
—Sterling.

SCOTTISH SOUP

For eight persons use a good sized leek, trim and wash it and cut it into Julienne pieces one inch long; saute in butter until it is a delicate brown, then add three pints of water, salt and pepper, one quart of potatoes, washed, pared and diced, and a third of a cup of pearl barley. Let all cook slowly together for two hours. Just before serving thicken slightly with two ounces of melted butter and flour rubbed to a cream. Serve very hot with toast squares.

Untreated pellagra ends in insanity.

YOUTHFUL FLOWER-LIKE LINES

PARIS, France—Youthful lines are still the marked feature of the fashions, and it would seem that the elaboration of drapery, trimmings, and so forth, which we were led to expect in the new models, have not entirely materialized. Or is it that we have so gradually become accustomed to puffs and ruffles, where plain lines prevailed but a few seasons back, that the new models seem simpler than they really are? At any rate, there is a sort of happy relief in finding still a large number of charming frocks to choose from, all wearable and entirely free from anything like hoops or eccentric draperies. Hoops and panniers have given the new line and established it; but the settling down from the extreme has resulted in a skirt only more graceful for the added fullness, and an ensemble that is altogether charming.

Some of the houses are cutting their skirts quite distinctly longer, and yet others seem to make them as short as ever. Here again it is a matter of contrast, for what would be called longer now would hardly have been thus labeled a year ago. One thing is certain, and that is that all skirts are very full over the hips, whether they be draped or gathered in straight folds. Also, they are made to stand out at the hem, haircloth being often used to this end. Some of the new silks have sufficient stiffness in themselves to hold the desired lines without added stiffening. This is true of the silk called gros de Londres which is like a faille, but finer and softer in appearance.

Perhaps one of the most noticeable things about the spring models is the fashion of combining contrasting materials and contrasting colors. A serge and taffeta tailor suit, for instance, is quite a novelty. The frocks with a taffeta skirt and a serge blouse of a sharply contrasting color, that falls below the waist, are particularly effective. A navy blue taffeta skirt with a biege serge blouse, embroidered with blue to match the skirt, is really lovely. The skirt is quite plain but full, and the blouse has a deep yoke and a high close-fitting collar which buttons up the back with the blouse. Leg-o'-mutton sleeves are set in just below the shoulder. There is a narrow sash of beige satin, embroidered with blue, and having heavy embroidered balls at its ends. This is long enough to pass around the waist, cross behind and tie low at one side in front, where the ball ends hang among the ample folds of the skirt nearly to the hem. Simple models of this sort will be chosen by the majority of people; for, though simple, they follow the new lines, which is to say, the bulk of the fullness of the skirt is on the hips, with plenty of fullness all around, giving the necessary appearance even though these are no hoops employed.

COME PLAY WITH US

My dear old friend, we're lonely here
since you have gone away,
I wish you'd drop your work a while and come to us and play.
The roads are fine; they're just the thing to try your new machine,
And our winding river bottoms are
shady, still and green;
The red bird's song is clear and
shrill throughout the livelong day,
And the river flows as gently as before you went away,
The bark upon the sycamore is just
as smooth and white,
And the moon as soft as ever in the warm, clear summer night.

I hear you're getting famous, and the neighbors tell me how
You've made your little pile of gold,
but are you happier now?
The city's din and clatter—do they fill your heart with joy,
Like the fresh fields where you scampered as a merry bare-foot boy?
Our boys are sliding down the mows,
our poets writing rhymes
And our statesmen talking tariffs that will bring us better times,
While the landscape smiles serenely
and the brooklet murmurs still,
And the glory of the sunset lights the woodland on the hill!

We've straightened out our fences
some to make the place look new,
But the old barbed wire will bend a bit and let you scramble through,
If you'll walk with me around the farm and guess the summer's yield
And watch the stalks of yellow wheat
a-waving thro' the field.
How each heavy head hangs over,
like your sweetheart's used to do,
When it drooped to hide her blushes
and the love she bore to you.
Bring her along. The youngsters too,
and let them romp and shout
And ride the horses to the field and scratch their trousers out
Among the bushes in the woods,
the while we celebrate
The hundredth year of honor of the dear old Hoosier state.
—William Dudley Foulke.

SILK SUITS FOR MEN

If you want to be a model man
'Tis simple, goodness knows,
Just wear a lot of swagger togs
And strut around and pose.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Yes 'tis true the worm will turn and this summer the silk worm has turned its efforts from the fair to the sterner sex. It is terribly busy spinning the wherewithal to clothe "me lord" in a stunning silken sumer suit.

Last year the summer man seemed cool and content in Palm Beach suits of ordinary hempen weave, but this season he sniffs at anything short of silk.

Arrayed in Tussore or pongee he will lay siege to frail hearts and press his suit after it has been well tubbed.

He will undoubtedly owe as much to his laundryman as to his tailor for his success sartorially this season—gratitude, I mean, of course, not monies, although perhaps it may be a little of both.

The Tussore and pongee suits are tremendously attractive and also delightfully cool. Many of the best models show coats with pleated backs and half belts.

All the boys will vie with belted earls nowadays, for the belted coat is quite the thing.

Not only in the summer silk models, but on coats of serge and lightweight tweeds.

The belted coats of navy serge will be quite smart for country and outing wear with trousers of striped white flannel and will cause many a female heart to surge with admiration.

But after all before, below and above everything, the silk's the thing.

Silk shirts of heavy tub silk, striped and designed in the newest yellow, orchid, green and porceclain blue shades are very smart, worn with the soft collars of plain or corded white silk.

Among the newest silken scarfs those of small patterned foulard and pastel tinted silk crepe are numbered first in favor.

Chastely pure and white are the chosen socks of silk that will adorn the too oft clayey feet of our masculine idols. The white silk sock will show on the best foot forward in either work or play. In other words it will be worn to meet both business and social ends, although for very dressy occasions a fast black clock keeps it more up with festal times.

A very smart imported model even goes so far as to show three black clocks, one on each side and one right up the center of the instep. Needless to say, this pair is decidedly striking. Plenty of silk will be on manly hand also for the silk glove, pearl grey or chamois colored, stitched in black, will be much worn as well as the glace kid gloves that have been made to wash as beautifully as the long worn chamoisette ones.

Verily it seems to portend a busy season indeed for the silk worm and the laundress. Everything being silk and washable, Sylvester may almost safely take his tub attired in full silken regalia.

Anyway, there will be as little good excuse for soiled masculine garments this summer as for soiled masculine reputations.

CANADIAN WOMEN TO VOTE

The Manitoba suffrage bill, which passed the legislature at Winnepeg on January 27, with only one member saying a word against it, ran ahead of its party schedule. The Liberal party's pledge simply agreed to require the government to give women the vote. But the government thought it illogical to let women vote and not let them be voted for "As a result, the present enactment abolished all political disabilities from women." When the bill came to its final reading in the legislature, the women rose with one accord in the galleries and sang "O Canada."

Not to be outdone by Manitoba, the prime minister of Alberta, Mr. Sifton, made the following statement on Feb. 24: "The government of Alberta will introduce during the coming session a woman suffrage bill of the widest possible scope."

Premier Scott of Saskatchewan has caught fire from the other western provinces and the suffrage states of the Union and proposes to enact legislation in his province that "will confer on women full and equal political rights with men."

In order to be sure that Canadian women shall have all their rights the Hon. William Pugsley is meanwhile pushing forward a bill in the Canadian federal parliament at Ottawa to give votes for the federal parliament to those women who have won votes for the provincial parliament.

The Hudson's Bay company, Canada's oldest business firm and for a long time its most influential corporation, has just been celebrating its two hundred and forty-sixth anniversary with appropriate exercises at Winnipeg, the site of old Ft. Garry; and among the official celebrants was one Christie, of a family that has been in the service of the "gentlemen adventurers" for 171 years. A reading of the biography of Lord Strathcona gives the clearest idea of the elements of romance and ambition, of loyalty and sagacity, which for so many generations have entered into the lives of the agents of this great trading company, winners of a national and imperial domain.

SERPENTS ON HATS

By MARGARET MASON

In the olden days 'twas a wily snake
Got the best of Mother Eve;
But the times have changed for that serpent bold
You may well indeed believe;
For down at her feet, on her dainty boots
And up in the air on her hat,
The modern Eve has the best of him
now
And what do you think of that?

NEW YORK, May 23.—Don't be worried and sign the pledge hastily if you see snakes these days. They are being worn in the best of families and every fair charmer looks like a snake one since the latest fad of serpents has come to light. Just to turn the tables on the old snake for wearing Eve's nerves, her granddaughters, are wearing him on their feet and heads. It surely is going back to the Garden of Eden for our fashions. We began by decking ourselves out in apples and now we are up to the snake. Let's hope we stop at that and don't revive the fig leaf for the summer months.

At first glance these new high boots of grey kid appear to have tops of mottled silk, but a second glance confirms your sneaky, shaky suspicions. They are very stunning hat and the gayest scraps of silk are brimmed sailor hat with a crown of the same mottled skin the effect is not garish or bizarre, as you may at first suppose, but conservatively rich and original. Belts and pocketbooks also are shown in the snake skin.

The summer girl is very keen for beauty patches. Indeed, she seldom appears in a barefaced condition without a tiny black heart, diamond or dot enhancing the dimple in her cheek or the corner of one eye. However, beauty patches aren't the only patches of the 1916 beauty. Altogether, they may well be said to have gone to her head, for the very newest sport hat is a crazy affair made exactly like your grandmother's silk patchwork quilt. It is a soft, crush of course and when worn with a wide used in its hit or miss construction. They are set together with fancy long and short stitches, or feather stitching in a decidedly quiltish manner.

Nuts on golf or tennis will feel very much at home in one of these new crazy patch headpieces and to designate a fair lady as crazy in the head will imply rather a degree of smartness than stigma of addle-patedness henceforth. Do you know how to crochet an edging on wash cloths and bath towels? If so, cease such superfluous embellishment and turn your knowledge to more wearing and wearable adornment.

If you don't care for the crazy patch sport hats and still desire to be a smartly hatted sport, purchase a broad brimmed hat and a hank of yarn and then get busy with your crochet hook. Just imagine your hat is a wash cloth and edge it in a vivid shade of green, cerise, yellow or purple and you will have a simply stunning chapeau.

If you are a versatile crocheter you can make a hectic yarn flower with a leaf or two to put on the front of the crown and you will find that you have hooked the most attractive sport hat of the season with your little crochet hook. This is a true little yarn.

THE HOOSIER IN EXILE

The Hoosier in Exile—a toast
That by its very sound
Moves us, at first, to tears almost,
And sympathy profound;
But musing for a little space,
We lift the glass and smile,
And poise it with a royal grace—
The Hoosier in Exile!

The Hoosier in Exile, forsooth!
For though his steps may roam
The earth's remotest bounds, in truth
His heart is ever home!
O loyal still to every tie
Of native fields and streams,
His boyhood friends, and paths
wherey
He finds them in his dreams!

Though he may fare the thronging
maze
Of alien city streets,
His thoughts are set in grassy ways
And woodlands' cool retreats;
Forever, clear and sweet above
The traffic's road and din,
In breezy groves he hears the dove,
And is at peace within.

When newer friends and generous hands
Advance him, he returns
Due gratefulness, yet, pausing, stands
As one who strangely yearns
To pay still further thanks, but sighs
To think he knows not where,
Till—like as life—with misty eyes
He sees his mother there.

The Hoosier in Exile? As, well,
Accept the phrase, but know
The Hoosier heart must ever dwell
Where orchard blossoms grow
The whitest, apples reddest, and,
In cornlands, mile on mile,
The old homesteads forever stand—
"The Hoosier in Exile!"
—James Whitcomb Riley.

"By the way," remarked Jones to a friend, "I have just bought a Rembrandt."

"Really," was the reply. "How many cylinders?"

TROPICO TRUSTEES

The Tropico Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday evening at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., with President Frank E. Peters, Fred A. Alspach, Chas. H. Henry, Walter C. Seal present; A. C. Boyce absent. The following city officers were also present: Margaret R. Coleman, clerk; Hartley Shaw, city attorney; I. C. Wasson, street superintendent; J. W. Gould, city marshal, and Dr. W. C. Mabry, health officer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The city attorney reported that he had investigated the tax assessment and the street improvement assessment against the city hall property and as Mr. Bancroft had paid the entire taxes for 1915 and that the claims for street improvement would amount to practically the same, it was his opinion that Bancroft's proposition for one claim to offset the other was reasonable. And it was ordered that the claims be settled in that way.

The city engineer reported that the work on Adams street was progressing very satisfactorily.

Ordinance No. 116 pertaining to the opening, widening and naming of West Acacia street was read for the second time and passed to its final reading and was adopted.

The matter of licensing jitney busses and taxing the auto busses which pass through the city and pick up and discharge passengers within the city limits was taken up. The question came up as to whether the city would have a legal right to tax auto busses which pass through the city and the city attorney was requested to investigate the matter and report at next meeting. It seemed to be the desire of the trustees to tax the Glendale jitney busses which make trips into Tropico. This matter was thoroughly discussed by the board and others and the city attorney was ordered to draw up an ordinance regulating and licensing the auto bus and jitney bus traffic in and out of Tropico and have the same ready for consideration at the next regular meeting.

City Marshal Gould asked the city to specify the day of the week for himself and Deputy Fairfield to take their layoff. On account of other deputies being on hand at the city hall on Sundays it was thought advisable that they take alternate Sundays off.

The street superintendent was instructed to have the Pacific Light & Power company to place a light on Tropico avenue between Brand and Glendale avenue and one on Tenth street between Damasco Court and Glendale avenue, also one extra light to be placed on Acacia street.

The superintendent of the Forest Lawn cemetery asked permission to readjust the grade at the junction of Depot street and Brand boulevard at his own expense. The request was granted and the street superintendent was instructed to see that the change was properly made and gutters and curbs properly constructed.

Mr. Shaffer asked an extension of fifteen days in which to complete the adjustment, etc., on Green street. The request was granted.

The following claims were allowed and ordered paid:

H. A. Jennings	$ 3.50
Title Insurance Co.	17.20
Pacific States Electric Co.	2.79
Home Telephone Co.	3.75
H. A. Jennings	14.25
J. W. Gould	27.30
Pacific Motor Supply Co.	15.00

Adjourned.

CLEANING UP ALLEYS

After considerable work the police have been able to report that the alleys in connection with various stores in the business parts of the city are in a fairly clean and sanitary condition. That condition will be improved. Meanwhile strict watch will be kept on the manner in which the law on nuisances is observed.
